MUSINGS FROM THE DEACON CAVE

Our Common Bond

So much of what pervades our society has the tendency to accentuate what makes us different from others. Men/women, citizen/immigrant, conservative/liberal, baby-boomer/millennial, executive/homeless... well, you get the point. This list could grow quite large! And focusing on our differences usually increases our anxiety and impacts how we interact with others. But today we have a reason to celebrate one of our common bonds.

No matter our nationality, our skin color, our gender, or any other characteristic, each and every one of us has a mother. We may not have had the chance to know them or maybe only for a short while, but we all have a mother!

So today should be a day when, along with giving thanks to our mothers and those that have been mothers to us, we should also look at others and know that we all have something in common. It is our chance to see others for what characteristics we share instead of what makes us different. In the words of mothers everywhere, it is our chance to "be nice!"

Happy Mother's Day!

Deacon Mike

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY

Loving God,
we thank you for the love
of the mothers you have given us, whose love is so precious that it can never be measured, whose patience
seems to have no end.

We pray for those mothers
who fear they will run out of love or time, or patience.
We ask you to bless them
with your own special love.

Amen.
